

CAA January meeting

Jean welcomed us to the January meeting of the CAA. Our President has been battling some health issues. She apologized for her lack of involvement recently. We are glad her health is improving and she is back with us!

Pat McNamara was not able to attend today's meeting. Marti spoke on her behalf. She asked that members consider whether or not they would like to display their work in our space. The new term begins on April 1st. New shelving will be installed at that time.

Congratulations to Kay, Paula, Kathy, Judy and Sally for your sales at Crossroads!!!

Marti delivered the very sad news that Janet Vissor lost her son due to complications which arose during his battle with the flu. Marti stated that anyone who would like to send her a card could contact her for Janet's address. Our thoughts and prayers go out to her.

Gail Litton reported a balance of $2556.51 in our account.

We will have a show at The Swift Creek Mill Theater in the Spring. More information will be forthcoming.

Paula made mention of the Orchid Society show being held at Lewis Ginter. The entry form will be emailed for anyone who is interested.

Julie mentioned the annual Fort Clifton show which will be held Mother's Day weekend. Talk to her if you are interested.

Side Street is hosting an 'Open' call right now. Entries must be received by Monday, January 15th. The opening will be January 20th.

We broke for refreshments, and then Gail Butler (yours truly) gave a presentation of her 'Good Company/Corona Critters' series, a collection of animal friends created during the month of April 2020.

Until next time....Happy creating everyone!
