

CAA March Minutes

Paula Ortgiesen welcomed us all to the March meeting of the CAA.

Our members were asked to update their contact information.

We welcomed Paula's sister, Shirley, Patsy Mumford and Barbara Campbell to our meeting. Thanks for coming ladies!

Congratulations to Sandy Newman, Sally Kennedy and Gail Litton for their recent sales at the Perkinson Center.

Susan Rutkowski has volunteered to be our liaison for painting classes at the Crossings. If you are interested in giving a class there please contact her.

Judy Harris will be conducting a workshop at the library on Lucy Corr April 25th and 26th. She will be leading participants in making paper and assembly of collage. The fee for the workshop is $50. She will be sending out information on supplies needed and stated that artists should bring a bag lunch on both days. Contact Judy if you are interested!

Laurie McAleenan is busy working on our new website. She asked artists to please send her photos and information on their mediums used in their work.

Pat McNamara asked artists who will be exhibiting at Crossroads to meet there on April 1st to refresh the space. We will meet there at 10:30. April begins a new exhibition period. If you will be leaving please plan removing your work on or before that day. Crossroads is always looking for artists to do demos on opening nights if you are interested.

Thank you Kay, Susan and Pat for bringing refreshments today!

Sandy Watts asked that members sign up to bring future refreshments. She also shared information about our exhibition at Centralia Animal Hospital. The visitors and staff are enjoying seeing our work!

Our program today was a presentation by the very talented Ed Hatch. Ed painted a lovely landscape for us. He gave us information on his techniques and color choices. Thank you so much Ed!!

Until next time! Happy creating everyone!
